“Your support will help us engage the immense creative energy of faculty and students to develop world leadership in academics and research.”
Dear Friends,

Your support makes it possible for the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences to educate young people who will discover new planets, write bestselling novels, and solve humankind’s greatest concerns through inquiry and action to create a better society. Together, we change students’ lives so they can change the world.

I invite you to become a member of the Dean’s Circle as someone who shares our passion for providing the best learning environment for our students. Your support will help us engage the immense creative energy of faculty and students to develop world leadership in academics and research.

I am confident that you will see the value of your support, and that you will be able to take both pleasure and pride in knowing that your support makes a tremendous difference in the lives of our students and faculty.

With thanks and gratitude,

Paul D’Anieri, Dean
