

UF in Rio de Janeiro

Portuguese Language & Brazilian Culture
Summer B 2014: Dates TBA

About the Program

Spend six weeks in Brazil at the Instituto Brasil Estados Unidos (IBEU), located in the heart of the Copacabana section of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. A highly regarded bi-national center for language instruction, IBEU provides pleasant classrooms, an Internet-equipped language laboratory, a library, and highly trained language instructors. This program is sponsored by the UF Center for Latin American Studies in collaboration with its counterpart at Georgetown University.

About the Location

A sophisticated city of over 10 million people, Rio is one of the world's most beautiful urban settings. The city boasts world-famous beaches, a vibrant cultural scene, and top-rate universities.

Excursions

Organized cultural excursions include a historic coffee plantation, Rio's historic center and forts, Corcovado, regional fairs, and others. Air passes are available to other cities such as São Paulo, Porto Alegre, Salvador, and Recife through US travel agents.

Housing

You will live with host families or individuals selected by IBEU, in Copacabana (or neighboring districts). Living with locals promotes immersion in the language and culture of Brazil. Hosts provide breakfast and dinner, and other amenities depending on nature of each household.

Enhance and Advance Four-Skill Abilities in Brazilian Portuguese (Reading, Writing, Speaking, Oral Comprehension).

Understand Cultural and Artistic Domains in Brazil.

Enjoy Short-Term Residence Abroad as a Learning Experience.

Course Information

Department of Spanish and Portuguese Studies
Center for Latin American Studies

Portuguese Language (Intermediate or Advanced)

3 transfer credits - taught by IBEU faculty

POR3502: Brazilian Culture and Civilization

3 UF GPA credits - taught by UF and Georgetown University faculty,
plus guest lectures from local universities

Total Number of Credits Offered: 6

